Reading/Language Arts: Our students will use metacognitive skills to both develop and deepen comprehension of increasingly complex texts in traditional literature.

Writing: We will use the writing process recursively to compose fictional texts that are legible and use appropriate conventions.

Math: We will be wrapping up our Operations unit on whole numbers and decimals as we move into division. We will also be working on simplifying numerical expressions.

Science: We will be wrapping up our study of matter, mixtures, and solutions and begin investigating the five uses of energy!

Social Studies: We are continuing our study of life in the 13 English colonies. Students will be learning about what differentiates each colonial region, colonial jobs, and the beginnings of conflict with Great Britain.
